

Case study

Shenley Wood Village, Milton Keynes

Ashlar walling blocks supplied transforms these retirement properties in Milton Keynes.

- Walling blocks improve aesthetics
- Adds value to the project
- Delivery on time and to budget essential

Key facts

Client: Extracare Charitable Trust

Sector: Housing - Retirement

Contractor: Willmott Dixon

Architect: Nichol Thomas Ltd

Brief

The ExtraCare Charitable Trust enables older people to enjoy a healthier, active and more independent lifestyle in a network of inspirational communities that represent a modern alternative to the traditional care home.

Architectural dressings were required to compliment the building style and add value to the project.

Solution

Our Structural Solutions team worked closely with the contractor and the sub-contractor to provide cost effective masonry solutions on this project. Some bespoke product was involved and it was vital that these were delivered on time and on budget.

The development is proving highly popular, and the overall aesthetic look of the site is quite stunning, helped in part by dressings we provided.

Shenley Wood Village opened in Spring 2012. The project incorporated 300 homes for purchase, shared ownership or rental within an inspirational community setting that includes over 18 health and leisure facilities, on-site care and a host of social and active opportunities.

Products and services supplied by us

- Ashlar

Tel:01530 510066

www.aggregate.com